

AUTOMOBILE ROW MAKING BIG GAIN IN IMPROVEMENTS

Great as have been the improvements along "Automobile Row" during 1919 it was just a beginning—a start that was carried over into 1920, and which has been halted but slightly by a "tightened" money market.

The changes along the row have been so numerous and so pronounced within the last two years that one who has been away from the city that length of time marvels at the display of "Michigan avenue" proportions.

Here are a few of the most recent changes, every one of which, with one exception, involves several thousand dollars permanent investment in the way of building.

After several months of more or less delay because of material conditions the Dixie Motor Sales Co., local distributors for the Templar, Stearns-Knight, Daimler and the Service truck, has moved into its new home at 600 Madison avenue. The structure is of brick and stone and covers 12,000 square feet of floor space. Offices and salesroom occupy the front of the building with the shop and parts department in the rear. E. N. Dietler, secretary-treasurer, is sales manager of the firm. Julien Brode is president.

American Motors.

The American Motors and Supply Co., local distributors for the American Balacon Six, the Millor motorcycle and for Aircraft tops, has moved into its new home at 403 Monroe avenue, although the structure is not quite completed.

This building, which is a double affair, with the American Motors and Supply Co. occupying the west wing, is constructed along the latest designs of automotive needs. The showroom, with balconied offices, occupy the front, confining the floor space thus used to as small a basis as possible, leaving a commodious workshop, parts room and storage space in the rear.

The building is of brick and concrete, 72 by 160 feet, with both north and south daylight. A. Y. Aydelott is manager.

Owens-Robbins.

After July 1 the Owens-Robbins Motor corporation, local distributors of the Stephens Salient Six, will occupy the east half of the above-described property. Finishing touches are now being given this big automotive incense, and when completed with present as imposing an appearance as any along the row.

J. Brooks, manager of the company, came to Memphis from Little Rock recently, where he was connected with the Universal Motor Co., Arkansas dealers for the Stephens. One of

TWO YOUTHS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Blame Each Other and Liqueur for Killing of Woman.

NEW ORLEANS, June 26.—Felix J. Birbilla, 21, and Charles J. Zelenka, 19, late yesterday were found guilty in criminal district court of the murder on April 21 of Mrs. Bertha Neason.

According to confessions introduced as evidence, the two young men induced Neason, whose husband was on duty on a navy ship, to accompany them on a ride to a lonely spot on the "Furber Road" road near the New Orleans canal, where they shot her and after robbing her of valuable jewelry threw the body into a pool of water. The 19-year-old Neason, who was a police corporal, testified and threatened with death, according to his testimony, drove the pair back to the city and then drove to his father's house and told him of the crime.

During the trial each defendant blamed the other for the crime and declared they were intoxicated and not responsible on the night of the murder. The verdict carries with it the death penalty.
